

University of Zürich

The Faculty of Economics, Business Administration, and Information Technology of The University of Zurich seeks an Assistant Professor of Finance

Applications are invited for a tenure-track position in finance, sponsored by the Swiss Finance Institute, starting in the summer of 2010. Candidates should have a Ph.D. They are expected to conduct high-quality research in finance and to teach both graduate and undergraduate students. Courses are taught in English and in German; non-German speaking candidates should be willing to acquire teaching proficiency in that language.

The Swiss Banking Institute at the University of Zurich wishes to reflect Zurich's importance as a financial center. The Institute puts strong emphasis on research and teaching in finance. It encourages collaborative efforts with other institutes within the University and with the financial services industry in Zurich. It offers both a Master of Arts and a Master of Science in Finance, the latter a highly successful joint effort with the Department of Mathematics of the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology. The Swiss Banking Institute's Ph.D. Program is part of Swiss-wide network that includes the universities of Geneva, Lausanne, and Lugano.

Please submit your electronic application by December 1, 2009 to

Professor Josef Falkinger, Dean of the Faculty of Economics, Business Administration, and Information Technology of the University of Zurich appointment@oec.uzh.ch